

Want to reduce your home's carbon footprint?

Consider the Source.

Using natural gas is cleaner than using electricity generated by fossil fuels. The truly accurate way to assess the full carbon impact of energy use on the environment is to measure from the energy source to consumption.

Homes that use natural gas on a national average are responsible for nearly 40 percent less carbon than a comparable electric home.

Natural Gas. The Cleanest Fuel the Earth Produces.

Natural gas companies serving 64 million homes. www.aga.org